

A gift in your Will

Your gift will create a better future for women, children and their families

After providing for your loved ones, we are grateful to thoughtful supporters like you who decide to leave a gift in their Will to the Women's & Children's Hospital Foundation.

This is one of the most meaningful ways of investing in the health and well-being of future generations and leaving a lasting impact on South Australian children and their families.

By remembering the Women's & Children's Hospital Foundation, you will support South

Australia's only specialist children's hospital and play a vital role in providing world-class paediatric medical research, and facilities, programs and services that make the hospital journey look and feel better.

Together, we can ensure that every child and family thrives, with access to the best healthcare, and support when they need it most. Our promise to you is that we will use your gift wisely and ensure your wishes are honoured.

WHAT TYPE OF GIFT CAN I LEAVE IN MY WILL FOR THE WOMEN'S & CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL FOUNDATION?

It is important that you choose the type of gift that is right for you and your personal circumstances. We recommend discussing your wishes with your loved ones and seeking independent legal advice when preparing or updating your Will.

Specific sum of money - also known as a pecuniary bequest, this is the gift of a fixed sum of money.

Percentage of your estate - you can gift your entire estate or any percentage of it. Even a small portion of your estate will make a huge difference.

Residual gift - this is a simple way to leave the remainder of your estate to the WCH Foundation after all other specific gifts to loved ones have been made.

Specific item - you may gift an item such as real estate, shares, a piece of art or jewellery.

Conditional bequest - this ensures the WCH Foundation will only receive a gift if certain conditions have been met, such as in the unlikely event that a beneficiary doesn't survive you.
